Cell theory

Human cancer cells with nuclei (specifically the DNA) stained blue. The central and rightmost cell are in interphase, so the entire nuclei are labeled. The cell on the left is going through mitosis and its DNA has condensed.
Main article: Cell theory

Cell theory states that the cell is the fundamental unit of life, that all living things are composed of one or more cells, and that all cells arise from other cells through cell division. In multicellular organisms, every cell in the organism's body derives ultimately from a single cell in a fertilized egg. The cell is also considered to be the basic unit in many pathological processes.[24] In addition, the phenomenon of energy flow occurs in cells in processes that are part of the function known as metabolism. Finally, cells contain hereditary information (DNA), which is passed from cell to cell during cell division. Research into the origin of life, abiogenesis, amounts to

COURSE EVALUATION CHECKLIST:
MOBILE APP DESIGN CONSIDERATIONS

Please Note: This resource is designed to act as an addendum to the Canvas Community - Course Evaluation Checklist.

How To Use The legend in each header references what type of criterion is demonstrated. A ★ rating indicates an Essential and standard design component to online learning; a ★★ rating is considered Best Practice and adds value to a course; and ★★★ is Exemplary and elevates learning.

We know each institution has unique requirements for their courses and we hope this document will serve as a great resource or starting point. We'd love to hear how you're using this checklist. Please leave comments in the Canvas Community - Mobile App Design Course Evaluation Checklist blog post.

It's always best practice to review your course(s) in the app. Search "Instructure" to find free teacher and student apps available for iOS and Android.
